A DAY WITH ELIOT

TUTOR: Sarah Anthony

Thursday 15 February 2018

A day out at the Turner Contemporary at Margate to look at their exhibition, Journeys with The Waste Land, exploring the significance of TS Eliot's poem. In 1921 Eliot arrived in Margate in a fragile state, physically and mentally. He worked on The Waste Land while sitting in Nayland Rock shelter on Margate Sands. The poem proved to be a pivotal Modernist work, encompassing both Eliot's personal crisis as well as his reflections on a fractured world in the aftermath of WW1.

The day will start at 10.30 am with a seminar led by Sarah Anthony, then after lunch we will visit the exhibition.

TICKETS: £8 per head (places are limited so please book early!)
